Table 1. Summary of the results of the 1998 survey of the distribution of the 10 most common species of the family Siphonuridae in the coastal waters of the Gulf of Mexico. The table lists the number of specimens collected for each species, the number of stations at which each species was collected, and the number of stations at which each species was collected in each of the four regions of the Gulf of Mexico.
The regions are defined as follows: (1) the northern Gulf of Mexico, (2) the central Gulf of Mexico,
(3) the southern Gulf of Mexico, and (4) the Caribbean Sea. The data are presented in the following table:

Handwritten text in a rectangular box, likely a manuscript or document. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly a historical form of English or a related language. The box is bordered by a double line. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words appearing to be in a different script or language, possibly indicating a mix of languages or a specific dialect. The handwriting is dense and somewhat difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and the age of the document.

Handwritten text in a rectangular box, likely a manuscript or ledger page. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly a historical form of English or a related language. The page is divided into several columns by vertical lines, suggesting a structured layout for recording information. The text is dense and fills most of the box.

Handwritten text in a rectangular box, likely a manuscript or document. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly a historical form of English or a related language. The box is divided into several columns by vertical lines, suggesting a structured layout for the text. The handwriting is dense and fills the box almost entirely.

[illegible]

Handwritten text in a rectangular box, likely a manuscript or document. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly Indic or Persian, and is arranged in several lines. The box is bordered by a simple line.

Handwritten text in a rectangular frame, likely a manuscript or a page from a book. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly a historical form of a European language. The page is aged and shows signs of wear, including discoloration and faint markings.

Handwritten text in Devanagari script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a cursive style and is enclosed within a rectangular border. The content appears to be a detailed account or record, possibly related to a specific event or location, as suggested by the visible words like "पुस्तक" (book) and "पत्र" (letter). The script is dense and fills most of the page area.

Handwritten text in Devanagari script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines within a rectangular frame. The script is dense and appears to be a form of historical record or administrative document. The text is written in a dark ink on a light-colored, aged paper. The lines of text are closely spaced and fill most of the rectangular area. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved but aged piece of paper with a clear, legible script.

Handwritten text in Devanagari script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a cursive style and is enclosed within a rectangular border. The content appears to be a formal record or a legal document, possibly related to land or property, given the use of terms like 'पट्ट' (patt) and 'हक' (hak). The text is arranged in several lines, with some words being larger and more prominent than others, suggesting a structured format. The overall appearance is that of an old, possibly leather-bound, manuscript.

Handwritten text in a rectangular box, likely a manuscript or document. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly a historical form of English or a related language. The box is bordered by a thick black line. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words appearing to be in a different script or language than others, possibly indicating a mix of languages or a specific dialect. The handwriting is dense and somewhat difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and the quality of the image.

Handwritten text in a rectangular box, likely a manuscript or document. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly from the 18th or 19th century. The box is bordered by a double line. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words appearing to be in a different script or language than others, possibly indicating a mix of languages or a specific dialect. The handwriting is dense and somewhat difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and the age of the document.

Handwritten text in a rectangular frame, likely a manuscript or ledger page. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly a historical form of a European language. The page is divided into columns by vertical lines, suggesting a structured layout for entries or accounts. The text is dense and fills most of the frame.

Table 1. The effect of the concentration of the solution on the rate of the reaction. The reaction was carried out at 25°C in a 100 ml solution of 0.1 M NaOH. The concentration of the reactants was 0.1 M. The reaction was monitored by the change in the absorbance of the solution at 440 nm. The reaction was stopped by the addition of 10 ml of 1 M HCl.
